BACKGROUND INFORMATION

American Creosoting Co., was the original owner and operator of the Site which it constructed in the early 1900's. The plant was associated with the Great Southern Timber Company facility located to the west of the site. In 1905, the New Orleans Great Northern Railroad Company acquired the right to construct a railroad across two lots through two right-of-ways. The railroad also acquired timber rights and use of "ground material" on the property for railroad construction. There is no available information that indicates that New Orleans Great Northern Railroad Company actually owned a portion of the Site or that the right of way was officially cancelled or discontinued. The state of Louisiana revoked New Orleans Great Northern Railroad Company's corporate status in 1983. In 1932, Great Southern Lumber Company conveyed a 32.06 acre tract of land to Colonial Creosoting Company. Colonial Creosoting Company operated from the late 1930's to the early 1950's. In 1957, Colonial Creosoting Company conveyed the 32.06 acre tract of land to Lakeview Sand and Gravel Company, Inc. The contaminants of concern at the Site are creosote components and polynuclear aromatic hydrocarbons (PAHs). In addition to wood treating, other operations at the Site include sand and gravel operations and a redi-mix concrete plant. The Site has been inactive since 2008.

The Louisiana Department of Environmental Quality (LDEQ) conducted several site investigations which began in 1986 when Lakeview Sand and Gravel Company, Inc., registered two underground storage tanks (USTs) at the Site. LDEQ completed a Phase I State Site Assessment report in April, 1993, which recommended that the site proceed to a Phase II assessment. Phase II sampling was conducted on March 24, 1994, revealing elevated levels of polynuclear aromatic hydrocarbons (PAHs), chromium, and lead. The LDEQ recommended that the Site be evaluated for remediation.

No action was taken until July 1999, when a National Pollutant Discharge Elimination System (NPDES) Compliance Inspection was conducted at the facility, focusing on Bogalusa Concrete. In August 1999, LDEQ notified Bogalusa that it needed to obtain a permit for discharge of process water from its facility, which Bogalusa received in June 2000. LDEQ reissued the notice in July 2001.

In December 2004, LDEQ identified that the facility needed an updated water quality permit, which was approved in May of 2006 (Ref. 28). LDEQ responded to a complaint of runoff from the facility entering a highway ditch in August 2007.

LDEQ completed a Hazardous Waste Site Cleanup Fund Prioritization System evaluation of Colonial in April 2008. On August 12, 2009, LDEQ requested that the facility provide a Site Investigation Work Plan to delineate the vertical and horizontal extent of contamination at the Site. LDEQ referred the Site to EPA in early 2011.

The EPA conducted several inspections at the Site. The September 7, 2012, Site Inspection Report confirmed elevated concentrations of PAHs, including acenaphthene, anthracene, benzo(a)anthracene, benzo(a)pyrene, benzo(b)fluoranthene, chrysene, fluorene, fluoranthene, 2-methylnaphthalene, phenanthrene, and pyrene, and PCP at the Site, all associated with wood treating processes.
